

Learning Disabilities Superbook 4 Books for Mentally-Challenged & Gifted Children

Special Education is a term for children who do not fit into the normal school curriculum. The big lie is that there is something wrong with you if you dont fit into their system but in truth your God created you as you are. You owe it to your God to manifest your natural inspired potential regardless of what it is. Most people are too brainwashed by the world system to realize they are fine as is, they must be who they were born to be by nature. Anyway, I created these four books to help any parent, student, educator or concerned others who dont neatly fit into the school system be it on the lower end or the higher end for whatever reason.

Book 1. Mentally-Challenged-LD-ADHD-Autism World Guide Book 2. Disabled People College, Work & Transition to Adult Guide Book 3. Childrens Mental-Health Emotional Well-Being Guide Book 4. Gifted-Talented Child Guide All this talk about dyslexia and ADD. I dont even think these conditions exist. Guy on TV As far as Im concerned, except for organic brain disorders, learning disabilities are largely an artificial phenomena created by the system to justify more jobs, more treatments and more money. The latest one I heard was ODD, Oppositional Defiant Disorder, a convenient label for anyone who doesnt wanna live by the systems agenda but who may otherwise be completely functional. In my book a Free Spirits Search for Enlightenment, I say that the system tries to mold us all and if we dont fit, were branded as deviant in some way. LD kids may be nonconformists, free spirits, kids with behavioral problems, kids who dont do well on tests, kids who dont want to learn that boring school stuff or kids who want to do what they really feel inside but are prevented because the system says they cant do that because they have to be transformed into good little conformist clones. I personally believe that very few have something organic wrong with them. Its partially the stigma effect too. Somebody labels you as a stupid LD kid so you live down to the stereotype. Most categories, in my opinion, are lies because the human being is permeable, different things at different times in different situations. Categories are created by someone for some exterior reason so dont buy into this so-called field too much. Im a great unbeliever in categorizing kids into categories based on performance in so-called IQ tests. Kids are unitary wholes. Just because they dont do so well on a test doesnt mean theyre dumb. They could be geniuses in creative talents, working with their hands, etc. LD kids are not like mentally retarded kids who obviously look like there is something wrong with them mentally by the way they act and talk. LD kids look normal, act normal and talk normal but somebody classified them with this disorder. Supposedly, they have some kind of minor brain dysfunction in perception or motor skills that inhibits their ability to learn but theyre often street smart and know how to take care of themselves in the outside world. Minimal brain dysfunction/ MBD is a funny term. It refers to some supposed specific deficit in a childs functioning yet cant be clearly identified in the organic brain through brain scans or other measuring devices. Some of the common learning disabilities are: Memory, brain storage problems. Defects in the ability to carry out commands given by the brain mainly in communicating (writing, speaking) or doing physical motor things anywhere from writing to playing sports. Problems encoding or converting words and numbers from verbal to written and vice versa. Short attention span. Hyperactivity. Easily distracted. Poor communication skills, inability to socialize. General frustration for being limited. Stated strictly, if people have physical disabilities, mental retardation, mental illness, or socioeconomic disadvantages, they are not considered to be learning disabled.
