

Nibiru Vampire Warriors - Chp. Four (Blood Slave)

Chapter Four in the Blood Slave: Nibiru Vampire Warriors Series Stride and Zero are on the run from the Vampire Queen, who keeps presenting herself in various disguises. Having failed in her attempt to capture and control Stride, her own son, she resorts to other, deadlier games in trying to divide and conquer the two vampire warriors. In Chapter four, the two vampires have survived the lure of the ghost ships deadly grip, only to arrive in a snow-covered town that looks like a winter wonderland with no beginning or end to it. They come to a small, brightly lit cottage and step inside, to face potentially fatal consequences. Zero is afflicted with a horrible ailment, and Stride is forced to confront the were-lover he once cherished and couldn't save... Stride and Zero must rely on each other and learn to trust one another. As increasingly tense as the battle on Nibiru has become, the two vampires find that their growing passion is not only their strongest, binding force, but in and of itself, the kind of Eden the planet on which they're stranded was supposed to be.
