

Catch Me If You Can

All Tag Morgan wants to do is help settle his fathers estate so he can get back to properly cataloguing his Mayan ruins. So hes caught quite off guard to discover that A) his father had holdings in Scotland and B) the property now belongs to Tag. Leafing through his fathers correspondence with the propertys overseer, one Maura Sinclair, yields even more surprises. His fathers letters reveal a warmer, kinder man-nothing like the harsh, cold disciplinarian Tag remembers. Surely it has to do with Maura, whose writing is filled with a dry wit and an infectious charm that keeps Tag reading all night. By the time the sun rises, Tag knows hes going to Scotland to find this woman who has so thoroughly captivated him. Travelling alone through the Scottish highlands with an old car and an even older map, the man who dissects other cultures for a living is completely out of his element in this one. Eccentric locals. Bone-chilling weather. Lethal-strength ale. Scary sheep. Its a lot to take in. More unsettling is Maura Sinclair, the woman with the sparkling blue eyes and the even sparkier temperament...a woman wholl fight to keep the land for her tenants...and who ignites passions Tag didnt even know he had. Once he gets a taste, Tag only wants more. And if he does, hell have to let go of the past and embrace the future with everything hes got...especially his heart.
