

Amandass Mail Order Cowboy: The Story of A Mail Order Bride and Her Mail Order Husband (Mail Order Brides Book 14)

A western romance novella of about 28,000 words. It is set in the 1876 time frame. In Elmira, New York, Amanda Taylor catches the man who has courted her for over five years, cheating on her. As a thirty-year-old schoolteacher, she is about to resign herself to the life of a spinster school teacher, when she chances upon a copy of The Matrimonial News. She decides to place an ad, but tears up the letter. She confronts her desperation, she places the ad. She faces the disapproval of her family when she decides to be a mail order bride. Rance Kendall is a successful ranch owner in the Cheyenne, Wyoming Territory. After he finds a two-year-old girl whose family is massacred by the Oglala Sioux, he has to face the fact he is thirty-two years old, unmarried, and has no prospects for marriage, he needs the love and companionship of a wife, and the two-year-old he has taken in needs a mother. He decides to advertise for a wife in The Matrimonial News, a paper dedicated to mail order brides. Is this Amanda's last chance at a normal life? Does she dare take the step? She decides the fear of the unknown beyond Elmira is too much to overcome and declines an invitation to meet, even after several letters are exchanged. What will Rance do? He has several other replies to his ad, but has held off because he likes Amanda's letters. He is stunned when she turns him down. Why did she decline his invitation to meet? How can he convince her to change her mind? This is a nice western romance about a reluctant mail order bride from Susan Leigh Carlton.
