

Brook Street: Fortune Hunter (Brook St. Trilogy)

London, 1822 Impoverished Julian Parker returns to London with one goal: marry an heiress. Hell do whatever it takes, even if it means denying his desire for men. After all, with a fortune comes happiness and social acceptance which have eluded Julian his entire life. The only things a vast fortune has brought Oscar Woodhaven are greedy relatives and loneliness. At twenty-one years of age, he has everything a man could possibly want except someone to love him. When he meets devastatingly handsome Julian Parker, he believes his luck has turned. Between Oscars lavish gifts and their searing-hot nights, Julian is caught between what he thinks he needs and what his heart truly desires. But when a betrayal threatens to tear them apart, Julian discovers hell do whatever it takes to convince Oscar the greatest fortune of all is love. 44,000 words
