

We Were Americans

We Were Americans is written from notes and memories of a time when young men were sent off to distant lands to fight a war most never understood a time when soldiers returning home were not looked on favorably, even were put down for serving their nation. While names have been changed, the events are true and I felt I needed to write this for all those who did not return from Viet Nam. I ask that as you read it, look at the nearest seventeen-year-old and imagine that person alone in a jungle fighting to stay alive, and you may have a small glimpse into what American soldiers felt in a unpopular war far from home.
