In 1860 in San Francisco, when newspaper workers strike, four women take the task of reporting the news in a mans world while skirting danger and romance. Amys allegiance is questioned when arson fires seem linked to her family. Jennies curiosity gets her into the middle of a murder investigation. Helen makes a printing mistake that hurts an innocent man. Penney attempts to prove her value as a writer could cost her life. When the newspaper stories hit the stands, will these four womens faith-and lives-endure to grasp the hand of love?
