

Human Rights and Human Wrongs: Major Issues for a New Century

Social and global issues are constantly being redefined in our rapidly changing world. According to John Stott, it is our responsibility to demonstrate Christ's love through participation in social action. This book challenges believers to make a difference in today's world as they confront the key issues of our time, including: the nuclear threat, environmental concerns, economic inequality, human rights, moral decay. A study guide is included at the end of the book. This book and its companion volume, Our Social and Sexual Revolution, were previously published in one volume as Decisive Issues Facing Christians Today (1990). Both books have been revised and updated.
