

Science, Philosophy and Jesus Christ: Novel Ideas in Christian Apologetics in Connection with Modern Physics, Plato, and History (The Inevitable Truth Book 2)

Recent advances in modern physics, relativity, and quantum mechanics have revolutionized the reasoning about the likelihood of Gods existence and have brought an entirely fresh way of thinking about the subject. In The New Apologetics of Jesus Christ, author James Frederick Ivey, MD, dissects these new ways of thinking in an upbeat format that is accessible to the layman yet deeply challenging for the seasoned apologist. With chapters such as Treasure in Heaven, The Mind of Christ, and The Alpha and Omega, Ivey presents a thorough apologetic of the Christian faith, explaining how the philosophies of Socrates and Plato meld nearly seamlessly with the belief in a single God and even with Judeo-Christianity itself. Concluding with a chapter tackling many common questions presented by skeptics, this imaginative book is dedicated to clarifying the Bibles message of eternal life through Jesus Christ. Iveys heros are C. S. Lewis and Dr. John Polkinghorne. This second volume of a two-book series on Christian apologetics will serve as an invaluable resource for anyone seeking to enhance their ability to defend the Christian faith.
