

TEARS ON THE FACE OF A CLOWN

The life and times of me - James Richard Adams -- Flesh, which will be wrapped in a final worldly robe of brittle fabric. Hair that turned pure white slowly through the years. Brain that studied, learned, conceived ideas, wrote books. Eyes that beheld both the beautiful and the ugly. Ears that listened to a womans heartbeat, a babys cry, a song of glory. Nose that sensed the aromatic gifts of Gods world. Lips that spoke both good and evil. Shoulders that went from broad and strong to weak and sore. Heart that felt love and sadness... and both kindness and cruelty. Stomach that tasted the foods the world offered. Loins that sired six wonderful children. Legs that marched in defense of our country. Feet that took me to wonderful places in Gods world. Gone. A memoir of a life spent ... a life where tears were prevalent; but joy interspersed ... together they created a life which was a blessing to some, a horror to others perhaps...but always Gods precious gift. Join me in life -- through death as a baby to ministries of joy to heartbreaks and fears. A soul that awaits eternity. A lone, small box awaits burial. For dust thou art, and to dust thou shalt return.
