

I Want Him Back!: Coping With the Loss of My Murdered Son

Have you lost a child? Have you lost someone who was murdered? This book is an up-close and personal account of the sheer overwhelming intensity of what it is like to lose a child to such a horrific crime. My only son was murdered at 18 years of age. I believe this book not only tells his tragic yet compelling story but it also takes a close look at grief of any parent with some that have the dreaded complications that come along with murder. At the end, I try to bring hope to many going through the trauma of loss. My only motive in the writing of this is to help others to know that they are not alone and offer some encouragement for the future.
