

The Forgiving Place: Choosing Peace after Violent Trauma

Riveting and compassionate, this book has been featured on Oprah, Tyra Banks and the Los Angeles Times. It is a journey from violent trauma to inner peace. It begins with the author/survivor/psychologist Dick Gayton telling the story of his wife's murder in their family home during a home invasion robbery. Readers are then invited to revisit their own encounters with violence--childhood abuse, rape, mugging, spousal abuse, assault, war trauma, or the traumatic death of a loved one from murder, suicide, vehicular manslaughter--and work through the pain to find their own inner peace. Practical healing techniques take you through the six Phases of Forgiveness to receive the gift of a new life despite the horror you may have experienced.
